Banff Public Library

(In)visible Lands - Banff Stories

11 - 6 PM, 101 Bear Street

Artist Melinda Spooner seeks to actively engage individuals in Banff through the collection of oral narratives and creation of paintings based on local stories. The work created at the Banff Artist Residency "Making Artistic Inquiry Visible" will be displayed at the Banff Public Library gallery for the month of August. The library, like the natural history museum is a repository for stories, a gathering place for communities and it provides communities a sense of "home" or how we can locate ourselves both regionally and worldwide. Individuals are encouraged to participate in the gathering of local stories.

Mountain Galleries

Demonstrations led by Michael Downs and Roy Hinz

11 - 3 PM, Heritage Square, Banff Avenue

Michael Downs will share his inspirations and the experimentation with contemporary techniques in oil painting used to create his works of realism. Roy Hinz will demonstrate soapstone carvings, which reflect his love of western Canada's awe-inspiring wilderness. Join us for these interactive and family friendly demonstrations. New works by both artists will be displayed in the gallery at The Fairmont Banff Springs Hotel Ground Floor, next to the Fairmont Wine Boutique.

Walter Phillips Gallery, The Banff Centre

Alternative Practices in Photography: Cyanotype Workshop

11 - 3 PM, Heriatge Square, Banff Avenue

Walter Phillips Gallery will partner with TRUCK Artist-Run Centre to bring another all-ages workshop in celebration of Banff Culture Weekend with Alternative Practices in Photography. This Cyanotype process workshop will be developed and led by Banff-based artist Sarah Fuller. Participants of all ages will be encouraged to unleash their creativity to create their own cyanotype sun print. Playing with Banff National Park's international draw for outdoor recreation and leisure, the workshop will be hosted out of TRUCK's Contemporary Art Mobile Public Exhibition Rig, aka CAMPER, a refurbished RV that brings art workshops and artist's projects to outdoor festivals.
